

Bass Chapel 1689 LBC introduction and addendums

The Second London Baptist Confession of Faith of 1689 as affirmed by Bass Chapel Missionary Baptist Church
since 2022 (revised 2023)

A Bass Chapel Preface

Bass Chapel believes a robust confession of faith, such as the Second London Baptist Confession of 1689, is of utmost importance in preserving the doctrinal purity of the church until her Bridegroom, the Lord Jesus Christ, returns. We affirm that we are in general agreement with the Second London Baptist Confession of 1689, and any teacher shall not teach contrary.

addendum to Chapter 22, section 8

[Bass Chapel does not desire to bind the conscience of the believer in this section. We do affirm the necessity of regular corporate worship on the Lord's Day, but we also affirm the command to provide for your family, which may be required on Sundays. These two commands should not be at odds, so Christian liberty is applied for those who believe Sunday to be a direct replacement for the Old Testament Sabbath, and also for the Christian who believes the Lord's Day gathering is different from the Old Testament Sabbath. Christ is our Sabbath.]

addendum to Chapter 26, section 1

[Editorial note: the term catholic means universal, and in no means refers to the false church known as the Roman Catholic Church.]
